

Local company spreads unlimited love in KwaNyuswa

Bron Stofberg

Melissa Schreiber and Miresha Narsai.

Emma Stewart with Simone and Anika Schroeder.

THE Unlimited had its Love Day on Friday, 17 June. There were about 250 people from the community to volunteer their time and joined the team on the day to transform five crèches in the upper Highway.

For the past 22 years, The Unlimited has been a proud member of the upper Highway community and is passionate about making a positive impact through its early childhood education initiative, The Unlimited Child. Over and above the work they do through The Unlimited Child, the company also spends two working days each year transforming crèches in and around Hillcrest.

Friends and families are invited to join in to fix playgrounds, plant veggie patches and paint buildings and classrooms. The Unlimited calls this a 'Love Day'. This was an opportunity to give back to the community, a great family day.

Among the people who booked their spot for The Unlimited's Love

Day were popular regional deejay, Damon Beard, and Unathi Mscengana.

Buses transported volunteers to and from the crèches and water and snacks were provided. One of the crèches that were transformed was Inhlakanipho Pre-Primary School in KwaNyuswa.

The crèche opened in 2007 and principal, Thembisile Zulu, was overwhelmed with the work done at the crèche. "It will make a huge difference to our crèche as the money that does come in is never enough to make such renovations," said Mrs Zulu.

One of the volunteers who was part of the gardening team, regional semi-finalist for Miss Earth SA, Melissa Schreiber, said she has always been a lover of nature, the earth and animals and this was the best way to show her love for nature and encourage others to look after nature.

Taryn Simmonds, Kayla Simmonds, Yako Hoshino and Lina Kobayashi.

Candice Faurie

Tamryn Combrink

PHOTOS:
Khethukuthula Lembethe-Xulu

Anne Mulholland

Jo Bromley